SoftwareTime, LLC creates software tools that help parents manage their children's computer use. Their first product, ComputerTime, allows parents to limit the amount of time, and when, kids can use the computer, and has already won numerous awards. SoftwareTime also provides parenting tips and guidelines regarding technology on its website.

SoftwareTime was co-founded by Joe Acunzo of Branford and Mark Siegnano of Madison. As parents themselves, they decided to take their nearly 50 years of combined software design experience and apply it to the development of parental control tools.
